REPRESENTATIVE BILL ALLEMAND SPEAKS OUT AGAINST POLITICAL VIOLENCE

“On July 13th the life of an innocent man was taken, at least one other person was seriously injured, and President Trump was less than a centimeter away from losing his life. As Wyomingites, and as Americans, we need to not allow our political differences to drive us to irreversible acts.” -Representative Bill Allemand, (R -Natrona)

(Milwaukee, Wisconsin) – On Saturday, during a campaign rally in Pennsylvania, President Donald Trump was shot in the ear.

During this assassination attempt, a man by the name of Casey Comperatore lost his life protecting as he shielded his wife and daughter from bullets that were undoubtedly intended for President Trump. Casey died a hero, protecting those he loved from an act of violence that should have never been able to take place.

Rep. Allemand went on to say, “Political tensions have been getting increasingly worse since 2016. The CIA and Secret Service know this, what happened on Saturday is beyond an oversight, and innocent blood is on the hands of those who were responsible for keeping President Trump and the rally attendees safe.”

President Trump has stated that he will still be attending the Republican National Convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin the week, and as an Alternate At Large Delegate representing the Wyoming Republican Party, Rep. Allemand will be in attendance as well.

If a delegate for Wyoming is not able to attend the convention, Rep. Allemand will be sat as a delegate. “If sat as a delegate, I will enthusiastically cast my vote for Donald J. Trump to be our next President.” Rep. Allemand stated.

Seeking to encourage his constituents and fellow Wyomingites, Rep. Allemand concluded, “We have the freedom in this country to disagree with one another; I will always defend the rights of my constituents and fellow Wyomingites in my capacity to have protected speech, however, acts of and threats of violence are not protected speech. We, especially in Wyoming, are much better than this.”
